

BURGER DICE

A Press-Your-Luck Dice Game by Matthew J Gravelyn

SETUP:

Whoever ate a burger most recently goes first. Write each player's name on a scoring pad. Take turns in clockwise order.

TAKING YOUR TURN:

Start your turn by rolling 3 dice at a time. If you don't get at least 1 bun on your first roll, roll again until you do. Then place your dice according to the following rules:

- A bun must be placed first before any ingredients
- Burgers can have only 1 of each ingredient
- A burger must have a bun on bottom and top and at least 1 ingredient to be completed
- Ingredients cannot be added to a completed burger
- You must complete a burger before starting another

After placing dice you may continue by rolling 3 new dice.

You can stop your turn before rolling and take the points you've earned or keep going for a chance at more burgers!

If you run out of dice during your turn and want to keep rolling, record the score of completed burgers and reuse the dice.

WASTING DICE:

Dice you cannot or choose not to place are set aside as waste. If at any time you have 4 or more waste dice your turn is immediately over and you do not score any points this turn.

SCORING:

When your turn is over, write down your score and pass the dice to the next player. Remember: only complete burgers are scored (a bun on top and bottom and at least 1 ingredient)! You score 1 point for every die in your completed burgers.

WINNING:

The first player to get 50 points starts the final round. Each other player has 1 final turn. After the last player has finished the player with the highest total wins and is declared the Burger Master!

If there is a tie, only those players take another turn until the tie is broken.
